Damon Chumney stood and thanked the court for the opportunity to speak. He wanted the court to know that he was in opposition to the tax increase this year. He said that the pay raises were at the top of the list of his opposition. He thinks that raising the taxes is unnecessary. He said there were a lot of reappraisals this year and he thinks that if we do a property tax rate increase that it only needed to include the new property on the payroll. He said that again he opposes the proposed pay raises. Saying that everyone knew what they were going to make when they ran for office. He said that he believed that John Kennedy said ask not what your country can do, but what you can do for your country. He said that he also thinks that applies to Commissioner's Court. He thinks that there are some members of the court that have the philosophy of ask not what I can do for my county, but what my county can do for me. He said he sees some of that reflected in this year's proposed budget. He said conservatives speak about cutting taxes and cutting spending and he has heard nothing from this court in those regards. He said it's all about new items in the budget, increasing taxes and increasing spending. He then thanked the court for their time and the opportunity to speak.

Richard Layne then stood and thanked the court for the opportunity to speak to them. He said there was a large amount of funds that this court has had made available to them from new appraisals and new property that is a fairly large amount and he would like to see at least a small portion of this turned back to the taxpayer. He said the court does have an obligation to manage this county as they see fit and they
