S-11 arrived on scene for a suspected carbon monoxide release inside the residential home. Fire crews made contact with the residential family outside and they informed us, the grandparents had went to the hospital for a suspected carbon monoxide poisoning. Fire crew personnel then made entry inside the home with gas detector devices. Personnel searched the entire home for carbon monoxide and other harmful gases. Personnel deemed the area inside the home safe until they entered the main shop and garage then detectors picked up on natural gas leaking from a pipe. Fire crews alerted the grandparents' family to let them know their findings. The family informed us that a plumbing crew was en route to try to resolve the issue. Fire crew personnel told the family once the plumbing issue was resolved they could call us back out to see if we could see if anymore gas was leaking. Fire crew also gave recommendations to the family not to let the grandparents not back into the house until the plumbing was fixed. S-11 then went back en route to the station.
